Fundamentally, the description of a real estate developer is that we are entrepreneurs and business people in real estate that create new real estate assets where they did not exist before, by changing one type of asset to another. Real estate developers are change agents; we change a raw piece of land into apartments, we change one type of real estate assets into another type and create value while doing so. Our purpose is to provide a market superior yield to our investors, profits to our company, to improve existing neighborhoods, and to provide market rate and moderate income rental housing to families

GOLD

It was gold that became the basis of market relations between people. Gold has served people as money for nearly 2,600 years. Paper money has been widely used only 11% of this time. It gained worldwide distribution only in the 18th century. In addition to the financial sector, gold has been in demand in such industries as medicine, jewelry, electronics, aviation and others. Gold perfectly combines all these properties. DURABILITY: gold does not rust and does not deteriorate over time; it can hardly be destroyed. DIVISIBILITY: if a gold bar is divided into five equal parts, the price of each of them will be exactly 1/5 of the total price of the whole gold bar.
